THANKSGIVING DAY.

How It Was Observed at the National Capital

BY THE PRESIDENT AND HIS CABINET.

A Complete Suspension of Business in Chicago—The Great Home Holiday in Gotham—At Richmond—A Big Plum Pudding.

How the President and Cabinet Observed the Day

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—There has seldom been a more beautiful Thanksgiving day in Washington in point of weather. The closing of all the government departments caused the streets to be thronged with people.

Early morning services in all the churches were well attended. The president and part of his family consisting of Mrs. McKee and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harrison, attended service at the Church of the Covenant; Mrs. Dismick attended Episcopal service. Dr. Scott, the aged father of the president's late wife, was confined to the house by a severe cold.

The customary monster turkey which every year has been sent the president from Rhode Island was duly received.

Vice-President Morton, who is here now for the season, observed the day with his family at his stately mansion on Rhode Island avenue.

Secretaries Foster of the state department and Mrs. Foster, Secretary Tracy and his daughter, Mrs. Willard, and Attorney-General Miller and family, ate Thanksgiving dinners at their respective residences in this city. Secretary Rank and his wife and daughter dined with Secretary of the Treasury Foster, and his family and other guests. Secretary of War Blount was absent from the city in New York, and Postmaster-General Wamont, as usual, went over to Philadelphia.

A feature of the day was the large number of marriages, more than fifty licenses being issued for this purpose Wednesday alone. The football match between the Columbia Athletic club and the Georgetown college attracted an immense crowd.

The Day in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Thanksgiving was observed in this city by a complete suspension of business and was principally a home holiday. About the city were suspended, and the football game and the south-side grounds was the scene for the numerous fashionable turnouts of all kinds that crowded the boulevards in that part of the city, the whole afternoon.

The biting winds of Wednesday night subsided early in the morning leaving an ideal day with cold, bracing atmosphere, and bright sun. Special services were held in many of the churches and in all the charitable and public institutions of the city good things to eat abounded, there being as usual claiming a large share of attention of those who each year make it their duty to see that the poor are not forgotten in this part of the day's festivities.

In New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The great home holiday of the nation—Thanksgiving day—was appropriately observed in this city yesterday. Business was almost completely suspended, and the streets and sidewalks were covered with the tops of all public and numerous private buildings. The day was clear, with a crisp autumn air.

In the morning services were held in nearly all the churches in the city, and many New Yorkers turned their thoughts from the transient joys long enough to attend the services and return thanks to God for the blessings of the past year.

At Richmond, Va.—A Monster Plum Pudding.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 25.—Thanksgiving weather was warm and cold. Business was generally suspended. Services were held in many of the churches in the morning. The feature of the evening celebration was the cutting of the mammoth Cleveland and Stevenson democratic plum pudding by Senator John A. Daniel. The revised weight of the pudding was 271 pounds, that being the latest estimate of the number of electoral votes received by Cleveland. A 12-pound slice was sent each of the successful candidates, twelve being the electoral vote of Virginia.

NOW AND THEN.

Thanksgiving at Homestead, Pa.—A Dinner at the Casino.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., Nov. 25.—The late employees of the Carnegie company did not have much to give thanks for yesterday in the way of earthly blessings. The strike of the past four months depleted their purses and very few were able to provide the good things that fill their tables and make merry years on Thanksgiving day. The mill men as a rule make good wages and are liberal spenders and are fond of outdoor sports. The streets yesterday were nearly deserted and an air of desolation seemed to hang over the town which was so prosperous a year ago. No celebrating of any sort took place.

About fifty people applied at the Carnegie works for positions yesterday but few were engaged.

Wages Increased.

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 25.—The miners of the Pine Brook and Capous shaft of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company numbering 500 were yesterday given an increase of ten per cent. in wages for mining coal, and for cutting cross-headings they are increased fifty cents per yard. The miners and all other employees about the mines and breaker of the company were also given increases of from ten to thirty cents per day.

The Kaiser Recovering.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram Co., from Berlin states that the Kaiser is recovering from the illness which has been suffering with a chill passed a good night and is recovering.

Death of William McKinley, Sr.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 25.—William McKinley, Sr., died at his home in this city early yesterday morning.

THE PANAMA CANAL.

Organization of the Committee to Investigate Charges Against Deputies, Etc.

PARIS, Nov. 25.—The committee of the chambers to investigate the charges against the deputies and other public officials in connection with the Panama canal, organized yesterday. M. Henri Brisson, republican deputy for the Seine, and former minister of justice and president of the council in 1885, after the downfall of the Ferry cabinet, was chosen president of the committee. The selection is generally approved as he is noted, not only for his oratory, but also for his integrity.

M. Eugene Solbais, deputy for Charente-Inférieure, and a noted Republican, and M. Jean-Marie Albini (Lanzel, deputy for Ardèche, Republicans, were elected vice-presidents. It was resolved that there should be no official reports of the proceedings, and that every member should be allowed, on his own responsibility, to give particulars of the proceedings to the public. This resolution is highly interesting to the regular reporters of the chambers, who are thus deprived of a lucrative task.

The commission will begin work today, by the examination of Premier Loubet; M. Delahaye, who made the scene in the chamber which resulted in the appointment of the commission; the editor of Libre Presse and Deputy Bouzat, of Douvres, who has been prominently mentioned.

The newspaper Libre Presse accuses Deputy Bouzat of having received 20,000 francs from the bank of the Panama Canal Co. In an interview Deputy Bouzat declares that he is absolutely uninvolved in the Panama scandal, and he has written to Minister Floquet asking that the charges be lifted by the commission.

SEEKING THE CAUSE.

The Senate Subcommittee Investigating the Homestead Strike.

PROMINENT STRIKERS ON THE STAND.

The Average Wages Were Three Dollars a Day, and the Proposed Reduction Affected but One-Tenth of the Workmen.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 25.—The Senate subcommittee investigating Pinkertonism and the Homestead strike resumed at the Hotel Duquesne at 11 o'clock yesterday.

Capt. W. B. Rogers told the familiar story of the voyage of the Little Bill on the morning of July 6.

Ex-President Wolcott of the Amalgamated association described the range of wages of the Homestead mill men, placing the average at $3.00 per day. He explained the association method of holding conferences, and said conciliation was always practiced when possible.

"I think," said Mr. Wolcott, "that the Carnegie company could easily have paid the old wages to the men affected by the reduction and be largely ahead to-day. The reduction affected four departments, about 800 men, or less than one-tenth of the whole number."

Most of our troubles are caused by foreigners who cannot speak the English language and are unacquainted with American ideas and who cannot be taught the highest duties of American citizenship. I think the general government should take prompt measures to stop unrestricted immigration. The labor organizations were not consulted in enacting a law to remedy this evil. There was no necessity for the employment of armed guards at Homestead."

William G. Roberts, ex-vice-president of the Amalgamated association and a prominent member of the advisory committee of Homestead, did not approve of the action of July 6. The men thought the reduction was intended to break the strike and looked upon the employment of Pinkerton men as an unfair way of enforcing submission. The Carnegie company has a "black list" and does refuse to employ men who have been in the strike. Heated for the Pinkertons caused the trouble on July 6, but the fact that the workmen don't share adequately in the profits of a strike and the concern is what caused the reckless spirit.

"Compulsory arbitration established by the government, the board having full power to enforce its decisions, is the best method of adjusting wage disputes."

"I know that the offer of the Homestead men to protect the company's property was made in good faith."

A DANGEROUS CALLING.

A Pretty Young Wife Badly Hailed by an Expensive White Male Torpedo.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 25.—An explosion, terrible in its consequences, occurred Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The explosion occurred at the residence of Charles E. Paulhaus was the victim, and now lies at the city hospital in a precarious condition. On Tuesday last Mr. and Mrs. Paulhaus applied at the house for a room and engaged one on the second floor. No one knew how the couple occupied their time, but it was known that they were engaged in some kind of work in the room selected by them.

Wednesday afternoon after dinner the couple again retired to their room, and an hour afterwards there was a terrible explosion, which shattered window panes and was felt for some distance around. When an entrance was effected to the room a horrible sight met the eyes of those who rushed in. Mrs. Paulhaus was lying on the floor, blood streaming from her face, throat and chest, while her husband lay on his back, his head and neck severed from his body. The couple were together engaged in some kind of work in the room selected by them.

On examination by physicians it was found that Mrs. Paulhaus was in a precarious condition. The explosion was caused by a gas leak from a gas stove. The explosion was caused by a gas leak from a gas stove.

TRAFFIC RESUMED.

Railroads in Washington Resuming from the Effects of the Floods—Treasure Trove.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 25.—All danger from floods has passed and most of the railroads have resumed running regular trains, though many have to make transfers at "washouts" and landslides. The Seattle & Northern Pacific will not be repaired for several days, the break being worse than at first supposed. The Everett & Monte Cristo railroad is in such bad shape that repairs will not be completed for sixty days. The Seattle & Montana began running north Wednesday, making several transfers, but the transcontinental line of the Great Northern is in bad condition on both sides of the Cascades, and there is danger of the line not being completed this winter. A number of bridges and grades being washed out along the Wenatchee river and Icicle creek.

The floods, while giving employment to many idle men, have led to some what of a famine in beef and milk. Besides the delay in shipping products, much stock has been drowned. The muddy waters of the sound have completely stopped the profitable salmon fisheries for a time.

Over two tons of registered mail alone came in Wednesday from the east and south. All mail trains began moving Wednesday for the first time since the storm began.

A remarkable landslide occurred Wednesday on the Tacoma & Steilacoom railway. The breaking away of a high embankment revealed several hundred dollars in $20 gold pieces. Several men in the vicinity quickly gathered up the coins, and the news of the find soon spread. The money is supposed to have been buried there some years ago by John Lock, a prosperous brewer of Steilacoom, who was believed to be wealthy, but as he was not known to have any relatives, it was somewhat of a mystery at the time of his death where his money was hidden, and the discovery of Wednesday may lead to its recovery. Further search will likely be instituted.

A very bright shower of meteors was noticed Wednesday evening, mostly dipping to the west, while a few very bright ones struck down down east, seeming to emanate from a point about ten degrees west of the Pleiades, towards Jupiter. The sight was very beautiful.

THE DAY OF THANKS.

Union Services at the First Presbyterian Church--Sermon by Rev. C. E.
Torrey.

The Collection for the Relief of the Deserving Poor of the City.

Most of the Thanksgiving festival of old time was held directly after harvest of the year. The time of the English Harvest Home was at the full of the September moon. Our American Thanksgiving occurs in November. The idea was derived, without doubt, from the aborigines. The Indians were wont to hold a festival day at the corresponding season of the year. When the mild days came, the last days before the long, cold winter sets in, which Americans term, in honor of the aborigines, the Indian summer, forest men lit great fires roasted the carcasses of deer and bear, boiled corn, stewed pumpkin and made a great feast, of which both women and warriors partook.

When we go back to the sixteenth century, it is found to be filled up with fruits and thanksgivings, especially during the time of Queen Elizabeth. Under that gay and pagan love sovereign, it was expressly ordered that on Thanksgiving days no service labor should be performed, and severe penalties were attached to the violation of this order. It was natural enough, therefore, that the early settlers in this country should bring with them a traditional respect for days of thanksgiving.

The usual Thanksgiving services were held in Deane yesterday at 11 a. m. at the First Presbyterian church in the presence of an audience of fair size. The weather was comparatively pleasant.

The service did not conclude until about 12:30. It is supposed that everybody got home in time for 1 o'clock turkey dinner. Exercises as follows were observed:

Organ Prelude..... Miss Edna Buss
Hymn..... Choir and Congregation
Invocation..... Rev. W. H. Peckham Prayer..... Rev. W. G. Miller--Congregation Scripture Lesson..... Rev. H. H. Ouel Anthem--Praise the Lord..... Choir Traverse--Followed by the choir of the Lord's Prayer..... Rev. J. A. F. King--Congregation
Sermon..... Rev. C. E. Torrey
Benediction..... Rev. F. R. Hunt Prayer--The tree will offering to be devoted to the relief of the poor and distressed families of our city..... Rev. W. G. Miller Benediction..... Rev. C. E. Torrey
Organ Postlude..... Miss Edna Buss

The sermon by Rev. Torrey, pastor of the Baptist church was prepared for the occasion. It was scholarly, logical, patriotic and delivered with splendid effect, commanding fixed attention to the topic. The topic was "The True Discovery, or the Secret of Progress," under the heads "God's Word an Unchangeable Light." "Government without God a Failure," "America's Opportunity," "The True Discovery, dangers to be Confronted," "The Duty of the Hour." The closing portion of the sermon was as follows:

DANGERS TO BE CONFRONTED.
In the glow and rejoicing of our matchless prosperity, I fear that we do not stop to consider the dangers that lurk in the way. We will find on examination that the rocks upon which the Jewish and other nations split are in the bosom of our Union. We have the increase of their wealth; they multiply their idols, and there came a consequent loss of faith and lowering of the standard of morals among the people. They gave loose rein to passion, and physical and intellectual decay followed. They held to the letter of the law for the most part, but neglected the spirit. Jesus likened such to whitened sepulchers.

Grave questions confront us. Let me suggest that you make a careful study of our public school system. You will find its most bitter enemy in Rome, and will be amazed at her arrogance and inco-sistency. First declaring their socie-tarian because the Bible was read at the opening of the morning session, and then as soon as this exercise is prohibited, turning her back and calling them godless. Take a look at Sabbath desecration and kindred evils--the saloon element and influence, lack of respect for God's day, lax morals and lax religious notions, caste and class distinction, are they beginning to make themselves felt so unpleasantly; and then the home, the chief corner stone of our nation, needs your attention. These, one and all, need our careful, prayerful and conscientious consideration. Let the light of God's word fall upon these things, and the darkness of evil will flee before it. The duty of the church is that we at once ally ourselves to whatever pledges unchanging warfare to our hydra headed foe. We need to at once strike hands with some mighty evangeli-sting force, before the blight of sin shall have destroyed all life, and as we all hope for the fruition of God's rich promises on this, our native soil. If we fail to measure up to our opportunity the kingdom of God will not be sent from us and given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof."

Our way has not been an undeviated path of light nor will it be, but God reigns, and we measuring up to our di-vinest privilege, may make the future brighter than all the past. Burdens have been ours and yet must be, but there is a divine law of compensation, and as the sweat of a man's brow gives him right to the bread this world, so the travail of the soul gives right to the tree of life. Reward follows labor; freedom follows oppression; daylight succeeds darkness; autumn cooling breezes succeed summer's scorching sun; spring time's bud and blossom, the blighting, freezing days of winter; the joys of a God given home in the promised land; the peace of Egypt and verdant wilderness, Every reign of terror, prostration, bigotry, malice and blind superstition is compensated for by the light and liberty of the reformation sure to follow, until we are led to say: Never a fraternal war, but an Appocalypse.

Never a Merriam, but a Monitor.
Never a Lee, but a Grant.
Never a people, but a nation.

No play of recent date has won a greater measure of success than "The Wife" the masterpiece of DeKille and Belasco which Daniel Frohman's company will present here on Tuesday, Nov.
29.

EARLY in January there will be a conference of the members of the Prohibition state central committee and party workers generally at Springfield. A. F. Smith, member of the committee for the 14th district, will attend.

The grand lodge appropriated $5,000 for the Old Fellows demonstration at the World's fair next September. The per capita tax was made 75 cents for each member, which will give $15,000 for the support of the orphan's home.

The father of Mrs. Frank Mitchell, who was brought to Deceatur from Mo-

THE J. T. POWERS in "A Mad Bargain" comedy company, had a very large audience at the Grand last night.
The performance, which was new in stage business and jokes pleased everybody immensely. Mr. Powers was readily recognized by his personal appearance and old manners. Peter Dally, Rose Foster, Hattie, Della Gray, Lillian Chapman, and Miss Forrest are all over

THE DAY OF THANKS.

Union Services at the First Presbyterian Church--Sermon by Rev. C. E.
Torrey.

The Collection for the Relief of the Deserving Poor of the City.

Most of the Thanksgiving festivals of old times were held directly after harvest of the year. The time of the English Harvest Home was at the full of the September moon. Our American Thank-
hold a festival day at the corresponding
season of the year. When the mild days
winter sets in, which Americans term, in
honor of the aborigines, the Indian summer, forest men let great fires, roasted
the carcasses of deer and bear, boiled
partook.

When we go back to the sixteenth century, it is found to be filled up with
fruits and thanksgivings, especially during the time of Queen Elizabeth. Under that gay and pagan love covering,
it was expressly ordered that on Thank-
performed, and severe penalties were attached to the violation of this order. It
bring with them a traditional respect for
days of thanksgiving.

The usual Thanksgiving services were held in Deceatur yesterday at 11 a. m. at the First Presbyterian church in the presence of an audience of fair size. The weather was comparatively pleasant.

The service did not conclude until about 12.30. It is supposed that everybody got home in time for 1 o'clock turkey dinner. Exercises as follows were observed:

Organ Prelude..... Miss Anna Hays.
Hymn..... Choir and Congregation.
Invocation..... Rev. W. H. Pugh.

Prayer..... Rev. W. H. Pugh.
Scripture Lesson..... Rev. H. E. O'Connell.
Antiphon..... Rev. H. E. O'Connell.
Prayer..... Followed by the choir of the Lord's Prayer..... Rev. T. A. Parker.

Prayer..... Rev. J. A. F. King--Congregation
Sermon..... Rev. C. E. Torrey.
Benediction..... Rev. C. E. Torrey.

Offering--The free-will offering to be devoted to the relief of the poor and distressed families of our city..... Rev. W. C. Miller.
Doxology..... Rev. C. F. Rogers.

Organ Postlude.....
The sermon by Rev. Torrey, pastor of the Baptist church was prepared for the occasion. It was scholarly, logical,
patriotic and delivered with splendid
effect, commanding fixed attention to the end. The topic was "The True Discovery, or the Secret of Progress," under the heads "God's Word an Unquenchable Light," "Government without God a Failure," "America's Opportunity," "The True Discoverer," "Dangers to be Confronted" and "The Duty of the Hour." The closing portion of the sermon was as
follows:

DANGERS TO BE CONFRONTED.

In the glow and rejoicing of our
not stop to consider the dangers that
lurk in the way. We will find on exam-
Jewish and other nations split are in the dram of our national life. "With the increase of their wealth they multiplied their idols," and there came a consequent
loss of faith and lowering of the standard
of morals among the people. They gave
intellectual decay followed. They held
to the letter of the law for the most part, but neglected the spirit. Jesus likened such to whitened sepulchers.

Grave questions confront us. Let me
suggest that you make a careful study of our public school system. You will find
its most bitter enemy in Rome, and will be amazed at her arrogance and incoherency. First declaring them secular because the Bible was read at the opening of the morning session, and then as soon as her coat and calving them goddess. Take a look at Sabbath de-clement and intemperance, lack of respect for God's law and God's day, lax morals and lax religious notions, caste and class distinctions that are beginning to make themselves felt so unpleasantly; and then the home, the chief corner stone of our nation, needs your attention. These, and all, need our careful, prayerful and conscientious consideration. Let
the light of God's word fall upon these
things, and the darkness of evil will flee before it. The duty of the hour demands that we at once ally ourselves to whatever pledges necessary warfare to our
strike hands with some mighty evangelizing force, before the blight of sin shall have destroyed all life, and as we all hope for the fruition of God's rich
promises on this, our native soil. If
"the kingdom of God will be taken from
the fruits thereof."

Our way has not been an unclouded path of light nor will it be, but God
reigns, and we measuring up to our di-
vinest privilege, may make the future
brighter than all the past. Burdens
have been ours and yet must be, but
there is a divine law of compensation,
and as the sweat of a man's brow gives him right to the bread of this world, so the travail of the soul gives right to the fruit of life. Reward follows labor; freedom follows oppression; light succeeds darkness; autumn cooling breezes summer's scorching sun; spring time, bud and blossom, the blighting, freezing days
of winter; the joys of a God given home in the promised land; the pain of Egiptian servitude and the blackness of wilderness wanderings. Every reign of terror, persecution, bigotry, malice and blind superstition is compensated for by
the light and liberty of the reformation
sure to follow, until we are led to say:

Never a fratricidal war, but an Appomattox.

Never a Morrimo, but a Monitor.

Never a Lee, but a Grant.

Never a people unrighteously oppressed, but a Washington.

Never an enslaved race, but a Lincoln.

Never a people on the borders of a desert, but a "Vine and fig tree to lead thee home."

Now is the Time.

Must reduce stock. Now is the time to get drugs, toilet goods, and perfumery and confections. We are the best stocked drug store in central Illinois, and will give away 15 per cent of our stock before January 1st. Everybody come and see some of our goods.
